Courtney Stodden is speaking out about her first ever nip and tuck.

"My results are looking incredible and very sexy," the teen bride said in a statement obtained by E! News about her recent breast augmentation surgery. "Looking forward to slipping into a bikini. . .or out of it!"

Prior to this, the teen bride had been cosmetic surgery free, even going so far as having an ultrasound on television to prove she didn't have implants.

Plastic surgeon Dr. Stuart Linder performed the job over the weekend and now the 18-year-old Courtney is currently recovering at her home with husband Doug Hutchison in Los Angeles.

Curious to how it all turned out? The star will be flaunting her new curves soon enough.
